Badjao Community Fire Incident

February 2, 2019

INSIGHTS

► Realized the importance of mapping in disaster preparedness

“Importante nga naa gyud mapa para magamit kung naay sunog, tsunami ug uban pang kalamidad, ug para makita sa mga tao kung asa mo agi especially kung naay sunog o kung asa tong mga lugar nga hazard prone”, said one child participant.

The child recognized the importance of mapping their community especially in times of disasters as it will guide the people where to go, which areas are affected, hazard prone, which are designated as safe spaces and the location of the evacuation center, access to clean water, food, communication and health facilities.

► Sustainability as the biggest challenge

“Kadtong nasunog ang Badjaoan last March 2019, nahimong hagit sa amo nga mga na-train sa mapping ang pag-update na pud sa mapa sa among komunidad tungod kay aduna nay kausaban. Luyo sa mga hagit, intersado gihapon mi nga among i-update ang mapa sa among lugar aron makatabang maski sa gamay nga pamaagi.” After the fire in our community last February 2019, updating the map became a challenge for us. Despite of this, we are still committed to help our community in our own little ways.

Apart from the hazards such as fire, another threat in sustaining the timely updating of the maps is land security as these areas are informal settlements. Relocation of the residents has been a long standing threat to the community. BUT with the children’s knowledge, skills and more importantly their commitment, wherever they may be in the future, they can still help in updating the maps.
